

We would simply like the calls to end. If not, then can you somehow require the telemarketing companies to have it so that their number or at least the company name shows up on the caller ID. Many times when they call they do not identify themselves.